Dear Parent/ Carer

In the gospel on Sunday, Jesus was rejected in his home town of Nazareth (Luke 4: 21-30). I have no doubt that we have all felt unrewarded or unrecognized for our gifts, talents and skills at various times. There are so many ways that we endeavor to support and recognize our young people and the wealth of talents and skills they demonstrate:

- Emmaus tutors and Pastoral Leads who get to know all students individually
- Rewards assemblies every half-term
- Regular verbal praise in lessons and across the school
- Achievement points and related rewards incl. commendations, toast vouchers, breakfasts and trips
- Celebration Friday, including star of the week
- End of year raffle
- Presentation Evening
- achievements@painsley.staffs.sch.uk email to share students' success with the school
- Facebook acknowledgements
- Opportunities for student leadership/ambassadors
- Regular competitions/opportunities promoted and encouraged across departments
- Departments saint's day, principal awards

In all our achievements we recognize the God given gifts and talents that we aim to develop each and every day in order for students to realise our motto to 'know yourself'.

Throughout this week there have been numerous correspondence with parents – please do ensure you have considered/consented to the biometrics system for cashless catering, considered purchasing tickets for Beauty and the Beast and completed the parental survey. I thank you in advance for your on-going support for all we are trying to achieve.

As a reminder, although facemasks are not required in corridors/classrooms, I do encourage students to wear them in crowded inside areas. It is essential that students continue to wear them on college transportation. In the week ahead, we host the NHS vaccination team for the students who have returned consent forms.

The gospel reminds us that we have each been chosen not for our own advantage but as an instrument to bring Christ to others. I wish you well for the week ahead.

God Bless
